THE POLICY OF ALBANIA IN THE FIELD OF FOREIGN TRADE

As known, from the beginning of the 1990s, Albania has opened its foreign trade, based on the principle of free market economy. Albania's foreign trade is based on the principle of free trade and working for the completion and development of the foreign trade. Albania is a member of the World Trade Organization.

It is important to note that not only Albania has opened its foreign trade with the European Union. So, the bilateral trade between Albania and the European Union is increasing. In 1993, the trade between Albania and the European Union was 10440 million USD. In 1994, it was 22660 million USD. In 1995, it was 35320 million USD. In 1996, it was 51893 million USD. In 1997, it was 34654 million USD.

On December 31, 1997, Albania has prepared a reform program for the European Union in the field of trade (see the Agreement for the trade between the European Union and Albania signed on 15.06.1993 in Brussels). As a result, Albania's trade with the European Union for the period 1993-1997 has been as follows:
