

China concurs that, at this point in time, we should dedicate more analytical work to the relationship between trade and issues such as competition, investment and environment, returning to them, with clearer insight, in the next Ministerial Conference.

7. To conclude, Macao, China believes that WTO Members have a special responsibility in overcoming the challenges facing world economy today. We must collectively do our best to seize this opportunity and contribute constructively to the future work of the WTO. On its part, Macao, China is determined to unswervingly uphold its international obligations and continue to play its part in the multilateral trading system as a fair, credible and equitable trading partner.
